the nightmare sisters

The Nightmare Sisters is a brand new Electro Rock outfit from Hollywood, CA. Featuring Sabrina KingQueen from Sweden & NOiZEE from England, the two girls met in LA in a session playing for the legendary Kim Fowley (The Runaways, Kiss etc.)

Before the girls met, they had both had successful careers in music. KQ first relocated from her home in Sweden to London, UK, where she attended LCCM music college and started to develop the art she performs today. After graduating in UK Sabrina decided that Musicians Institute in Hollywood was her next stop. After being in Hollywood for only 5 months, Sabrina met two executives from BAM (Brash Accord Music) They loved her lyrics and signed her.

NOiZEE™ has been touring the world with various bands for over a decade. Starting with U.K.'s AntiProduct who toured extensively for the first 7 years of this century, including touring Europe with Ozzfest and being described by the Daily Mirror as "Britain's best live band", and playing in Japan supporting the Wildhearts to ecstatic sold out crowds Sabrina spent fall/winter 09 shooting a video and recording a EP. FEB 2010 KQ had her first performance at the world famous Avalon Theatre in Hollywood, CA in front of 2500 people. After two days the video for "Luv Drug" reached over 20,000 views. And 2010 became the year she performed big venues all over CA and Las Vegas, Her music video "U make me (lol)" aired on the TV Chanel LOGO and is also featured on MTV.com and reached #2 most viewed music video of the week @ mtvmusic.com.

NOIZEE™, she was touring with Marky Ramone's band from 2004 to 2010, including playing the Punkspring festival in 2009 to the most crazy audience of the day...She has become renowned for her unique live performance and captivating audiences who sought her out on such social networking sites as Facebook where she currently has over 25,000 fans. in 2007 she moved to LA from London where she has is also currently collaborating with Kim Fowley (multi platinum producer for the Runaways, Kiss etc.)

KQ and NOiZEE™ are both explosive performers who make unique sounding catchy kick ass dance songs but with the live guitar and keyboards, vocals and backing vocals, that give it a raw and live feel, that it is impossible not to dance to. While the World is falling apart, you can trust KQ and NOiZEE to give you party music to make you forget all your troubles and dance the night away!

Swedish Pop Star Sabrina KingQueen Leaves Label, Remains Optimistic About the Future

By Jamie
From Music Is My King Size Bed
4/28/2011 6:00 PM - 342 views

Back in February I named Swedish pop star Sabrina KingQueen (AKA Sabrina Petrini) one of my "Ones To Watch in 2011," and reporting that her debut album would be out in March. Well, clearly March has come and gone with virtually no word. Turns out there was a reason, and it's one that we hear about all too often in the music biz. On April 25th Sabrina KingQueen formerly announced that she has parted ways with Swedish label B.A.M. (Brash Accord Music). In the press release she states that the album (La La Land) has been recorded but that she was waiting on her label. Clearly nothing came of that waiting and Petrini decided to do what was best for her and her career.

KingQueen: 'La La Land'

by SCANDIPOP on APRIL 25, 2011

Where have you been all our lives, KingQueen?!

The Swedish singing lady now has a new single out, 'La La Land'. She's been releasing music for some time before now, but this is the first we've heard of her – and WHAT an introduction it's been!

'La La Land' is a super catchy exercise in electropunkpop. Packed with an infectious attitude, although not abrasively so. It sort of reminds us of a cross between a slew of female fronted acts that cropped up in Britain in the early noughties – Portobella, The Faders, and some band called Girls Aloud.

It starts off with a rap from her fellow Swede, Lazee. And then she pops up, and it really is relentless from then on! Punch after punch after punch of lyrics shouted in a mesmerising melody, to an electrorock

Sabrina är säker

Det finns inga om i Sabrinas värld. Bara när. Det är således inte en fråga om huruvida skånskan ska lyckas eller ej - utan när det kommer att ske.

Sabrina Petrini, 22, är en vanlig tjej från Helsingborg. Men som levt ut en dröm hon burit på i hela sitt liv. Hon ska bli popstjärna.

Jag vet att jag kommer att lyckas, säger hon med en slags kaxig självklarhet som osökt för tankarna till en annan utlandsskånska, Anna Anka.

Jag har satsat hela livet på det här. Det har bara varit estetiska grejer som gällt.

Och hon vet hur hon ska gå tillväga.

Det räcker inte att bara stå framför spegeln och drömma. Det räcker heller inte att bara hamna på rätt fest. Det handlar om två saker helt andra saker. Dels att man sliter hårt och bygger upp

TEXTFÖRSTÖRINGEN SPONSRAS AV: smarteyes

Sabrina Petrini bytte Helsingborg mot Hollywood

Sabrina Petrini sjöng, dansade och satte upp musikaler redan när hon gick gymnasiet i Helsingborg. Sedan dess har karriären gått vidare. Till Hollywood. Los Angeles. Som KingQueen.

MER. När Sabrina Petrini var 16 och skulle välja gymnasium sa hon till sina föräldrar att hon ville bli advokat. Det avrådde hennes pappa från.

– Han tyckte att jag skulle välja en estetisk linje. Det var där jag skulle passa bäst, ansåg han.

– Jag hade rätt kassa betyg i nian. Men när jag sen valde estetisk linje blev dom bättre. Det var som att jag blev glad bara av att veta att jag skulle börja där.

Nu förstår hon också att det var ett självklart val.

Sabrina Petrini's senaste promotionbild. Numera kallar hon sig KingQueen och i februari kommer hennes debutalbum.

Music Video of the Day: KingQueen - U Make Me (LOL)

Posted 10/5/10 10:32 am ET by gabigregg in Music

I've been listening to KingQueen's "U Make Me (LOL)" on repeat since last weekend, and I don't think I'll be stopping any time soon. The robotic vocals and techno beat keep me dancing, and the lyrics are perfect for any scorned ex-girlfriend.

With lines like "Yes, I flushed your lashes in the toilet/Yes, I threw your lipstick through the window/Now smile for the camera, baby/Enjoy your act 'cause one day maybe/Your money and your last name won't count/And I will ha-ha-ha," who needs a significant other?

Plus, a little black latex can make any video that much better. Think Single Ladies meets The Matrix:

KingQueen

"It will make you wanna move, It will make you wanna speak your mind and never ever look back." From Sweden to Hollywood, KingQueen is making people do just that. A student at the Musicians Institute, this pop singer originally from Helsingborg, Sweden is making music perfect for today's club scene. With hints of Pink, Lady Gaga, and Joan Jett her music exudes confidence and the essence of this strong beautiful woman.

She confesses, however, that she often feels anxious and shy. Ever since a young age, she has expressed herself in her music. Listen to her music and you'll find a sexy pop-rock sensation in the making, but talk to her to directly and you'll find a down-to-earth caring woman who has not been fazed by the thousands of views of her viral music videos.
